

Politics 102

Fall 2013 Exam #3 - Dec 13, 2013

50 minutes

- Write your name on the front cover.
- Write your answers in pen.
- Do not rip out any pages from your exam booklet.
- Do not use books, notes, phones, audio devices or other aids, or cheat in any way. Students caught violating the Academic Integrity Code will automatically fail the course and be reported to the academic integrity process.

Part 1: Short answer / identification. 10 points. Choose any 5.

- Identify the concept
- Give a real international political example that illustrates it.

1. Sovereignty
2. Boomerang model
3. Norm
4. Realism
5. Idealism
6. Nonderogable rights
7. Nuclear proliferation
8. International law

Part 2: Essay. 5 points. Choose 1.

- Your essay should be a well-organized argument. Write a clear thesis statement near the beginning setting out your argument, and use the rest of the essay to provide facts and logic that support your analysis.
 - Refer to assigned readings where appropriate.
1. What kinds of international campaigns for human rights are most and least likely to be effective?
 2. Does an idealistic foreign policy by the United States inevitably lead to international resentment, or can the U.S. sometimes pursue idealistic ambitions without risking balancing?